

Water

Water features are shown in blue, and may sometimes be dry! The channels and hollows shaped by water are nonetheless obvious features.

Water features are lakes, rivers, channels (watercourses), ponds, marshes and waterholes. Rivers, streams and watercourses, as linear features, are useful for navigation.

A water feature is drawn with a black border if it is not possible or safe to cross when orienteering. Conversely, if a black border is broken, it indicates a safe crossing point.

Note that watercourses and ditches look similar on the ground and that marsh symbols can be combined with vegetation colours.

Blue

	Lake
	Pond
	Uncrossable River
	Crossable River
	Watercourse
	Narrow Marsh
	Uncrossable Marsh
	Marsh
	Indistinct Marsh
	Waterhole
	Well
	Spring, Source

Task

Match the maps on the left with the views on the right

